Spend the day exploring Kangaroo Island at your own leisure. The island is a haven of wildlife and natural beauty. On the western part of the island you can visit Flinders Chase National Park home of the Remarkable Rocks, one the islands signature landmarks which took 500 million years of rain, wind and waves to create. Admiral's Arch, the lighthouses at Cape Borda and Cape du Couedic and multiple walking and hiking trails also make up Flinders Chase National Park.

Kangaroo Island is a food and wine lover's dream destination. The island is home to 30 wine growers and 12 wineries. The island is famous for being from where some of the best Southern Rock Lobster is sourced. It also has South Australia's only eucalyptus oil distillery with oil that is distilled from the endemic Kangaroo Island narrow leaf mallee, The Emu Ridge Distillery.

Maybe visit Kangaroo Island Spirits, South Australia's only boutique distillery which specialises in handcrafted Premium Australian Spirits. Here, spirits are produced with a philosophy of "Slow Spirits"; a term used to describe spirits made in a similar vein to "slow food", i.e using high-quality local and seasonal ingredients made using traditional processes and recipes. The Whispering Wall in Williamstown in the Barossa Valley is a unique phenomenon allowing you to "throw" your voice over 100 metres. The unintentional phenomena is created due to the wall's curved shape which leads to voices being carried from one side of its arch to the other, even when whispered, hence its name.

For visitors looking to take in the gourmet side of South Australia, a visit to Maggie Beer's Farm Shop is a must. Maggie Beer is a renowned figure on the Australian food scene and the Farm Shop has been enthralling visitors since the 1970's. Quorn is a historic township most famous for the Pichi Richi Railway which is a narrow gauge railway line that connects it to Port Augusta and was initially opened in 1879. The township gained fame and importance in the early 1900's as it became the crossroads of any north-south or east-west travel in Australia, so anyone travelling in either of those directions would have to pass through Quorn. There is a visitor information centre where you can get a map for a self-guided walking tour of the town based around the historic buildings, railway yards and other historic locations.

Continue your journey south to the seaside town of Whyalla, the third most populous town in South Australia.
